

uncapped ADSL

what is it?

Uncapped ADSL is an Internet connection that provides uncapped data so you can enjoy the Internet without having to worry about your data cap.

purpose

Ideal for video calling, gaming, downloads and running a small office

benefit

- Use as much data as you like (subject to our Acceptable Use Policy)
- Phone and surf the web at the same time
- Pay a fixed monthly price
- No setup or activation fees

speed

Your line speed controls how quickly data gets to your computer over the Internet. It is rated in kilobits per second (kbps) which is a measure of the amount of data that can flow in a given time.

384 kbps

A good option for one or two users browsing the web and sending emails.
Download: 384 kbps. Upload: 128 kbps.

1024 kbps

Slightly faster option, suitable for a family or small office looking for more speed.
Download: 1024 kbps. Upload: 256 kbps.

4096 kbps

Meets highest demands for quality suitable for large file downloads, gaming, video streaming and larger office networks.
Download: 4096 kbps. Upload: 512 kbps.

10240 kbps

Ideal for large office networks with maximum speeds for bigger file downloads and can also be used for voice over Internet (VoIP) calls.
Download: 10240 kbps. Upload: 512 kbps.

data cap

No data cap or usage threshold shaping

This is a shaped service. Priority is given to normal web browsing, email, online banking and social networking type services.

limitations

No concurrent sessions which means that you can only log into your ADSL account from one location at a time.
